DUAL ROLES

Colours take sides here: in the blush corner, the pink-red of the pillar, chairs, stool and mirror. In the white corner, the kitchen, the walls, the table and rug. The accessories bring in new shades to heighten the tension.

Molten/Melting Pot table, £4,500, Dirk Vander Kooij at Mint Shop. Basil wood chair, £169, Calligaris. 0414 armchair in Ash Pink velvet, £1,643, Gallotti&Radice at Harrods. Cork stool, £960; Swirl vase, £550, both Tom Dixon. Large resin Modern Tribal platter, £240, Dinosaur Designs. Matégot bowl, £132, Mathieu Matégot for Gubi at Aram. Medium recycled bottle glasses, £21.95 for two, Graham and Green. Cactus juicer in White, £24, A New Tribe. Round velvet frame mirror in Ochre Gold, £69, Rockett St George. Quadric rug, 300x260cm, £1,409, René Barba at Ligne Roset Westend. Column in Bronzed Red intelligent matt emulsion, £50 for 2.5ltr, Little Greene

CASTING CALL

With a bleached-out backdrop, you're free to stage a new drama every night. The white in the patterned pieces creates a link with the surrounding space, or try strong shapes in solid matt colours that attract light and attention.

Plissé electric kettle, £79, Michele de Lucchi at Alessi. Atollo 235 large table lamp in glass, £1,225, Vico Magistretti at The Conran Shop. Cutting board, £714 set of four, Fien Muller and Hannes Van Severen at Viaduct. Fingers-crossed object, stylist's own. Swirl multi candelabra, £325, Tom Dixon. Small resin River Stone vase in Lagoon, £77; Temple vase, from £170; Column vase, £110, all Dinosaur Designs. Similar glass banana, Devon Made Glass Fruit
