precious metal

Known for infusing his brand with a rock'n'roll aesthetic, Massimo Buster Minale of Buster + Punch has drawn on his love of motorbikes to create a new Burnt Steel finish that mimics the rainbow effect of oxidised exhaust pipes. Check out this striking look on Precious Bar – a nifty cabinet handle with padlock and chain you can trust to keep tots well away from your whisky collection. £85 (busterandpunch.com)

THE QUICK CLICK top marks

Bitossi Home's Abracadabra collection is tabletop eccentricity at its best, bringing circus colours, harlequin patterns and big-top stripes to dinner times by way of gold-rimmed dessert plates and porcelain cups. Fortuna (top) and Tempesta dessert plates, £29 each, La Tigre for Bitossi Home (madeindesign.co.uk)

THE INVESTMENT PIECE loungue around

Typical of Gallotti & Radice's grown-up aesthetic, the three-part Oly seat pairs a monochrome tweed with brown suede for standout sophistication. And given that it sits somewhere between an ottoman, chaise longue and bench, it should be easy to find a space for it to call home. From £5,263, Massimo Castagna for Gallotti & Radice (gallottiradice.it)

JUST LAUNCHED in the spotlight

The Balancer wall lamp, new from Scandi brand Northern, caters to homeworkers who like to burn the midnight oil. Keeping things pared-back and professional, it features a black extendable steel arm and a softly diffused light that will see you through those long evenings spent at your laptop. £550 (northern.no)
